Restaurant owner:

Yannis: Yes, Inspector Palombo, I have owned this restaurant for more than ten years. I would rather not have the negative publicity of finding a stolen necklace on my terrace! I have to take care of my restaurant's reputation to ensure its profitability. I have salaries to pay, you know: I employ a waitress, a cook and an assistant cook. I don't want to lose them, I personally trained them to prepare and serve my Greek specialties. What? I must go to the police station to sign a statement? I don't have much time to spare, you know!

Just think of the work involved in running this restaurant and managing its finances! Buying, doing the accounts, stock control, budgeting.... I must see the cook to discuss tomorrow's specials. And the customers start arriving at noon! My employees and I need to have eaten before then! Tomorrow morning at 9? That's impossible! I work until way past midnight every evening. Well....maybe during the afternoon break, between 3 and 6, but I can't promise anything!
